The Greenville company of the Loyal Temperance legion held their reg-

St. Louis Society Won Last Game, But Temperance Players Took Cribbage Series By 156 Points—Notes.

The third and final game of the cribbage tournament between the Sacred Heart T. A. & B. society and the St. Louis society was played in St. Louis hall on Thursday evening. The home players won the game by 156 points, but by reason of the big lead the temperance society secured in the first two meetings, the latter won by a total of 356 points more at the second game a week ago the T. A. & B. players started strong and ran up their lead to 197 points, which they increased 46 points more at the second meeting Monday evening. The St. Louis team recovered their usual form in the last game and although they had little chance of overcoming their opponents, they finished gamely. The teams: Sacred Heart T. A. & B. society, D. C. Murphy, Alphonse White, Thomas Phelan, William Malone, Dan-he is well qualified for his more responsible position.

Wareham.

week from Danielson to Taftville, his

SALE OF TROUT FORBIDDEN.

Law Passed by the Last General Assembly Little Known.

The legislature of 1909 passed several laws that escaped general attention at the time, and probably many of those interested, such as market-men and keepers of hotels and restaurants, are ignorant of the fact that the sale or purchase of trout taken from Connecticut waters is forbidden, except such as are sold from private hatcheries.

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to buy, sell, or offer for sale any brook trout taken from the waters of this state, except as provided in section 3442 of the general statutes.

Section 2. Every person who violates the provisions of section one of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than one dollar or more than five dollars, and the buying, selling, or offering for sale of each fish shall be deemed a separate offense.

The section of the revised statutes to which reference is made provides that "trout hatched in the house or grown in the private waters of the owner may be taken at any time for the purpose of stocking other waters, and may be taken by said owner and sold for food between February first and October first, and it also provides that such owner must obtain a license (cost five dollars) and requires that in selling the fish he shall affix to the can or package a certificate signed by one of the fish and game commissioners stating that such trout "are the product of duly licensed owner."

It is apparent from the wording of the 1909 law that its restrictions do not apply to trout brought here from other states, but it is in cases such as philatelic as to native fish, with the exception of those from private waters, the owners of which have obtained a license.

Commenting on this editorially the Hartford Times says:
It will not take much more of this kind of legislation to convince reasonable men that it is time to leave the management of fish and game to those who own the land. Under the present trespass law they are the only ones who have a rightful interest in it. If that were done and the distribution of fish and game stopped by the state would be secured by the public is secured by a legal authority, the state would do justice and save money. And this would be a condition very different from that which now exists.

old dye mill in Uncasville, which Mr.
Martin had the contract to tear down.

MORE CASES FOR THE SUPERIOR COURT.

One is a Libel Suit for $20,000, Another is a Foreclosure and the Third for Injuries.

To foreclose a mortgage of $2,500, Lucy C. Hill, trustee, has brought suit against Jettie Sunen and other. She also wants possession of the property.
The death of Noah Maggs, which occurred in New London last September as the result of injuries received by being struck by an automobile, was the basis of a suit brought Thursday against the action of the state. The proprietor of the Crocker house garage, New London. The suit is brought by Beale Palmer of Norwich, administrator of the estate of Noah Maggs, to recover $5,000 damages. The papers were served Thursday morning and the papers are returnable before the superior court the first Tuesday in May.

Papers were placed with Deputy Sheriff Tubbs Thursday for service on the New London Daily Globe in a libel suit for $20,000 instituted by Manager Ira W. Jackson of the Lyceum theatre. The case grows out of an article published by The Globe last week, which stated that Mr. Jackson had been made defendant in a suit for damages, claimed to have been sustained by a patron of the theatre, Mr.
Jackson considered the article an in-due reflection on his character and ability as a theatrical manager, and on his financial standing. Mr. Jackson was the official head of the Jacson Amusement company, is in constitutional law. His style was simple, his thought limpid, and his bias, if he had any, followed the balancing between conservatism and radicalism—his earlier leanings on the supreme bench being perhaps more distinguished for conservatism than his later.
His public addresses, which were frequently revealed in him a keen interest in all human affairs and a ripe philosophy for their discussion. He will be greatly missed, and his loss will be the more felt in view of the crippled condition which the supreme court was already in.

On Wednesday evening Miss Mary Mack was given a pleasant surprise

The fire on Plain Hill was put out

AS TO BONFIRES.

Permits to Burn Rubbish Not Needed in Cities.

The impression has gained ground that people cannot kindle bonfires in their back yards for the disposal of burning up rubbish that they may collect in cleaning up their premises this week without first getting a permit from the fire warden of the city. It is not necessary to have a permit to burn rubbish in one's yard, as cities, boroughs and railroad properties are exempt from the action of the statute.
People in the city proper may burn all the rubbish that they may desire, providing they exercise the usual care in doing this and see that the burning does not constitute a danger to the property of other people. It is not necessary to secure a permit from the firewarden for this. The statute refers to the starting of fires in places where there is danger of spreading and doing damage to woodland.

Death of Justice Brewer.

The sudden death of Justice David J.
Brewer of the United States supreme court is a public calamity. He was among the ablest of the men who have sat upon the supreme bench during this generation. Many of its most noteworthy opinions of the past 20 years were written by him, and he was universally regarded as possessing, along with a highly judicial temper, a keen mind and the broad learning of the great judge in questions of constitutional law. His style was simple,
guished for conservatism than his later.
in all human affairs and a ripe philo-
was already in.
